We must have a school. Who will move in the matter? A house has to be built or rented and a teacher employed and paid. A present voluntary contribution is required.

The reported killing of S. M. Webb and family at Flat Rock, Tom Green county, Texas, is doubtless without foundation. Their arrival at Mason, 200 miles southeast of Flat Rock, is reported by letter to George Scott, of this place.

In order to better advertise this mineral district, THE BELT will receive subscriptions until the first day of January, 1879, for papers to be mailed one year to persons living outside of Arizona, at $2 a copy, payable at the time of subscribing.

We have frequent complaints of subscribers in California and the East of the non-receipt of THE BELT. A subscriber in Elizabethtown, New Mexico, writes that he receives but about one copy in four. The fault is not at this office; but is chargeable to the postmaster and inattentive special mail agents who are satisfied with a seeming attention to their duties and the regular receipt of their pay from the department.

Attorney General Devens recently opened a law school for the instruction of Judge Warren Bristol, of New Mexico. The first lesson was how to legally select juries. It has been the custom of his pupil to make grand and petit juries discharge a double duty. In his court United States juries were also Territorial juries; or in other words, he ran the separate jurisdictions in the same groove. We contended three years ago, and printed our views in relation to the illegal practice of so blending of Federal and Territorial jurisdiction, and sent Bristol a paper containing our strictures in relation to the matter, and now after great injury to litigants and illegal convictions in his court he crawfishes—backs down. He dismissed the jurors and summoned a new panel, in accordance with the views of Attorney General Devens.

In our issue of Nov. 21st we gave wings to the report that Archie McIntosh, of Grapevine Spring, near Salt river, had been killed by a squaw; and at the same time said the report needed confirmation. On the 23d ultimo Archie, in person, appeared in our office, smoking a cigarette, and as full of life and vigor as a yearling colt. He says the report had no foundation so far as he was personally concerned; but originated from the fact that his wife, Mr. Danforth and an Indian boy, on the 2d, went in search of some of his horses and mules which they supposed had gone astray, and were tracking them. When near the mouth of Coon Creek, they came upon the animals in the possession of four white men, who were on the move, and discovering they were followed, fired upon their pursuers at a distance of about three hundred yards. The fire was returned by Mr. Danforth, who dispatched Mrs. McIntosh and the boy to Salt river for assistance. He then fortified his position and held it for upwards of half an hour, when the thieves left, abandoning the stock. The four men were subsequently seen on Salt river, and two of them recognized by Mr. Danforth. They were not arrested, as they should have been, and punished. When asked what was the news on Coon Creek, they replied that the Indians were very bad there, and on the previous day had a fight with them.

In some reefs much of the stone will not probably pay for working, but it is believed that on the whole a very large and profitable industry will be insured with the aid of capital and good management."
